

North Coast Marine Speaker Series

Intertidal Ecosystem Interactions Along the North Coast of BC

Please join us for this free public presentation:

When: Thursday December 8th @ 7:30pm

Where: Northwest Community College

(353 5th Street, Prince Rupert)

Intertidal communities of marine species can provide information on ecosystem health. Join us to learn what Dr. Travis G. Gerwing of UNBC is discovering about the local intertidal ecosystems around Port Edward and Prince Rupert. He will further discuss how he is using these intertidal communities as an early warning system, hopefully identifying coastal disturbances before they can magnify their way up the food web, and impact human-use species such as salmon.
